High-density polyethylene protective helmet

Ensure maximum workplace safety with our protective helmet, made of high-density polyethylene. This material offers an ideal combination of strength and lightness, ensuring effective protection without compromising comfort. The helmet is designed to provide reliable protection against head injuries in various work contexts. The lightness of high-density polyethylene ensures that the helmet is comfortable to wear for long periods, allowing the worker to focus on their tasks without distractions. This product is mandatory when using personnel lifting baskets.
